Carrier Corp. Acquires Georgia Chiller

NEW YORK – Feb. 28, 2008 – Carrier Corp. has acquired Georgia Chiller Services, Inc., a Forest Park, Ga.-based HVAC (heating, ventilation and air conditioning) contractor specializing in the service and repair of commercial applied equipment, including cooling towers. Georgia Chiller will operate under the Carrier Commercial Service brand effective immediately. Carrier Corp. is a unit of United Technologies Corp. (NYSE:UTX).

Georgia Chiller, which was incorporated in 1996 and has 14 employees, provides HVAC service in the greater Atlanta metropolitan area to a wide variety of commercial customers, including manufacturers, universities, hospitals, and property management firms.

“We’re pleased to add Georgia Chiller to the Carrier Commercial Service network,” said Guy Colglazier, vice president and general manager of Carrier Commercial Service. “Their knowledge of the local market and expertise in servicing commercial applied equipment will help us provide greater value to our customers.”

The acquisition was completed on Feb. 12. Terms of the deal were not disclosed.

Carrier Commercial Service provides maintenance, repair and replacement services for HVAC systems; building controls; and energy management services and solutions products from more than 100 locations in the United States and Canada.
